Hi Jill,

Here is my application for replacing the existing basement window with the wider window.

I've lost my notes on exact window dimensions, and I am sequestered out of town at the moment, but the replacement with is that same height, and 5 1/2 inches wider. So that means we would cut just under three inches out of the block on either side of the current opening in order to make it fit. It would be centered in its current location, but a bit wider for the opening.

I am also attaching some photos.

Thanks,

Dave
