A OLD BUSINESS

What Does Policing Look Like "Expectations"

The commissioners discussed avenues for community engagement in the schools. Regular open houses in different neighborhoods, reaching out to new immigrant communities, and diversity in the Ann Arbor Police Force.

Where and How to Receive Complaints

Chair Stephens discussed the police complaints she has received, and asked City Attorney Arianne Slay to comment on any progress for receiving the policies and procedures that go along with those complaints. The Ann Arbor Police Department will provide a Policy Table of Content to the Commission before the next regularly scheduled meeting.

Update on Civilian Investigative Training

Commissioner Santacroce gave an update on a few attorney's and institutions that offer basic principles of fact investigation, including materials. He will also put a budget together and submit to the commission for further review. Commissioner Santacrocce talked about employing a lawyer to consult on complaints.

Revisit Complaint Form

There were no changes made to the Complaint Form.

B NEW BUSINESS

Proposed Dates for Basement Conference Room Relocation

A discussion and vote took place to keep the August meeting in the Council Chambers at 6:00 p.m. A Doodle Poll will go to all commissioners on available dates to relocate to the basement conference room A.

C REPORT FROM COMMITTEES

Outreach Update

Commissioner Caldwell discussed reaching out to numerous community organizations. The commission's first outreach event is at Peace Neighborhood Center, plans are in the works to create a brochure or flyer to be passed out in time for the event. Commissioner Caldwell will provide a calendar of events and a budget by next meeting.

Social Media Update

Vice-Chair Jackson and Commissioner Todoro discussed the advantage of social media, researching other states police oversight commissions around the country. The Commissioners suggested Twitter, Instagram and Facebook be considered a part of ICPOC's community outreach. A motion was made to continue to work on avenues for communication at future meetings. All approved on a voice vote.

D COMMUNICATIONS

Update on Public Safety Training

A Doodle Poll will be sent to the commissioners to check availability for the three upcoming Public Safety Training dates in September.
