To the Members of the Ann Arbor City Council,

I have just been made aware that you will shortly have a meeting to thoughtfully consider the evident value of having the area in which the Inglis House is located designated as a Historical District.

This is very encouraging evidence that you who serve and lead the people of Ann Arbor fully understand the continuing value and image such a declaration would bring to your city immediately and in the forthcoming years. The imposing Inglis House and surrounding impressive property stands as clear evidence that your city truly values the past, present and future images of excellence.

In my personal experiences of world travel, it has only been places that valued their history and future in designated buildings and property that were the best.

Please let me add my support to this very positive action of your City Council of Ann Arbor.

Yours very sincerely,

Ted Selby
