Subject: In support of a ban on gas connections for renovations and new construction

Hi Planning Commissioners,

Thank you for considering a ban on gas connections for renovations and new construction! This is part of the path to carbon neutrality and addressing the climate crisis.

The argument that our electricity supply is still carbon fuel based is a poor argument. The electrical grid can and will become powered less and less by fossil fuels. If we keep installing gas appliances we will just have that much more money invested in gas use.

Fossil fuels were acceptable once, but not anymore. Just like lead in gasoline, like asbestos in brake linings and insulation, like excessive emissions from car tailpipes, like chlorofluorocarbons in AC systems, lead in plumbing etc. etc.

Thank you for your consideration.
