FIXED INCOME MARKET REVIEW

As of September 30, 2025

Chart 1: The FOMC cut rates and forecast a steeper rate-cutting profile

Source: Federal Reserve, Bloomberg, Insight September 17, 2025

Chart 2: Payrolls data faced downward revisions over the year

Source: Department of Labor, Bloomberg, September 30, 2025

Economic Indicators and Monetary Policy

The FOMC delivered a 25bp cut to the Fed Funds rate, taking it to a target range of 4% to 4.25%. It marked the first rate cut since December 2024. The only dissenting vote was from the newest member, Stephen Miran, who voted for a 50bp cut. The Fed's updated "dot plot" reflected two further additional rate cuts by year-end, a slightly faster profile than in June (Chart 1). Individual projections were bifurcated with six members projecting no further rate cuts this year.

The FOMC cited labor market conditions as the main driver of its decision to cut rates, noting "Job gains have slowed, and the unemployment rate has edged up" and "downside risks to employment have risen."

This decision reflected increasingly finely-balanced labor market metrics. The US economy added 22,000 jobs in August, below expectations for 75,000. The two previous months were revised down by 21,000, adding overall to the total downward revisions year-to-date (Chart 2). Job gains continued to be heavily concentrated in healthcare and leisure and hospitality. The unemployment rate remained at 4.3% while the broader U6 unemployment measure increased from 7.9% to 8.1%, a new post-pandemic high. Elsewhere, the ratio of job openings to unemployed edged below one for the first time since 2017. Initial jobless claims briefly reached 264,000, the highest since 2021, albeit reports later indicated this was inflated by cases of fraud in Texas. The measure subsequently eased to 218,000 by the end of the month. Continuing jobless claims remained around cycle highs.

Inflation remained above-target (which the FOMC also acknowledged). Headline CPI rose from 2.7% to 2.9% and PCE increased from 2.6% to 2.7%. Core CPI remained at 3.1% and core PCE remained at 2.9%. Inflation was notable in food, shelter and "supercore" (ie excluding food, energy and shelter) categories. Tariff inflation was evident in small categories like televisions, sewing machines and jewelry.

The third estimate of Q2 GDP growth was revised up from 3.3% to 3.8% SAAR, which reflected upward revisions to consumption and business investment.

Interest Rate Summary

It was a risk-on month for assets and longer-dated Treasury yields eased. At the end of September, the 3-month US Treasury bill yielded 3.93%, the 6-month US Treasury bill yielded 3.84%, the 2-year US Treasury note yielded 3.61%, the 5-year US Treasury note yielded 3.74% and the 10-year US Treasury note yielded 4.15%.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

As of September 30, 2025

Past performance is not indicative of future results. Investment in any strategy involves a risk of loss which may partly be due to exchange rate fluctuations.

The performance results shown, whether net or gross of investment management fees, reflect the reinvestment of dividends and/or income and other earnings. Any gross of fees performance does not include fees and charges and these can have a material detrimental effect on the performance of an investment. The performance shown is for the stated time period(s) only.

Any target performance aims are not a guarantee, may not be achieved and a capital loss may occur. Funds which have a higher performance aim generally take more risk to achieve this and so have a greater potential for the returns to be significantly different than expected. Investments are subject to risks, including loss of principal. There can be no guarantee that any investment strategy will meet the liability funding needs of a particular client.

Performance information for certain accounts may reflect performance achieved while the account was managed at a prior firm. In addition, the performance and customized benchmark information for these periods are based on Information from 3rd parties that Insight believes to be accurate, but Insight has not independently verified such information and no representation is made regarding its accuracy or completeness.

The quoted benchmarks do not reflect deductions for fees, expenses or taxes. These benchmarks are unmanaged and cannot be purchased directly by investors. Benchmark performance is shown for illustrative purposes only and does not predict or depict the performance of any investment. There may be material factors relevant to any such comparison such as differences in volatility, and regulatory and legal restrictions between the indices shown and the strategy.

Any currency conversions performed for this presentation, use FX rates as per WM Reuters 4pm spot rates, unless noted otherwise.

Funds and portfolios with an ESG objective follow a sustainable or ESG related investment approach, which may cause them to perform differently than funds that are not required to integrate sustainable investment criteria when selecting securities. Funds and portfolios with no ESG objective are not required to integrate sustainable investment criteria when selecting securities so any ESG approach shown is only indicative and there is no guarantee that the specific approach will be applied across the whole portfolio.
