I read this material. It's very complex and confusing and hard to understand I've looked at how much engagement has been involved, but I have to tell you. I only learned about this in April. This is just too fast regardless of how long you think the process has been going on. All the people I've talked to don't even know about this. I know this must be frustrating to you, but this is going to affect the whole town. We need more time.
