Subject: The Madison at Main

Greetings,

The proposed Madison at Main apartment building looks great.

I would ask that the staff strongly review the sight lines for cars turning right from eastbound Madison, particularly right on red.

Currently the Bouma building (on the NW corner of the intersection of Main and Madison) sticks out so far that drivers need to inch into the crosswalk to see cars coming from the left. My concern is that while doing that, cars may not be able to see pedestrians or bicyclists on the sidewalk going north on Main on the west side of the road.

Perhaps the solution is to put in a no turn on red sign for eastbound cars on Madison?

Thanks for your consideration.
