Interim City Administrator Crawford stated he has met with the Council Administration Committee and the City has decided to continue to utilize electronic meetings until July 31st for decision-making bodies. The Council Administration Committee will re-evaluate the need to extend the use of electronic meetings on a monthly basis moving forward. The City also plans to create a physical presence in City Hall where members of the community can come and participate in electronic meetings.

Interim City Administrator Crawford informed Council that the City's effort to resurface surface roads in the downtown business area has been suspended, as business are opening again, and the project would have an adverse impact on them.

She discussed the need for all residents to be able to participate in public meetings, without such strict reverence to decorum.

Dr. Jackson focused on four specific area's that the Independent Community Police Oversight Commission will be addressing:

The Commission is seeking a place at Council once per month to provide updates to the Council and the community about their work.

The Commission is also asking that the City amend the collective bargaining agreement with the Ann Arbor Police to allow for the discipline records of officers to be examined by the Commission. The Commission would like to see a Statewide database of police officers that have had complaints filed against them.

The Commission is asking that the arbitration clause of the Ann Arbor Police collective bargaining agreement be removed to allow for Police leadership to terminate officers with just cause without the officers regaining their position in arbitration.

Dr. Jackson addressed the resolution on tonight's agenda regarding the Independent Community Police Oversight Commission and how the Commission was not privy to the resolution prior to the publication of the agenda on Friday. The Commission will discuss the resolution at their meeting on June 16th, but it is the Commission's belief that they are already committed to accomplishing what the resolution attempts to dictate.
