Subject: CLUP implementation

I'm writing to urge consideration of Dan Adams' proposal on CLUP implementation.

I find Adams' memo, and the work by Levine and Kazis and Leaf that it builds on, makes a compelling case that it needn't take a long time to make substantive UDC changes enabling significant new housing.

Delay is rarely neutral; it's almost always a victory for the status quo. Time and time again we've seen conservative voices use delay to stoke fear and misinformation. And yet the feared disasters never materialize. People get used to new streetscapes. They end up using the housing and businesses that are enabled.

I want to see us move towards a more welcoming and walkable city. I'd like to see it happen in my lifetime.

Thank you for your consideration!
