UMS upgraded my water meter in February 2021. I found out recently that the meter and its associated box had not been sending reading signals to the city, so the city sent a city employee out earlier this month to diagnose and fix the problem. The city employee, Khalid, was exemplary and fixed it. Turns out, UMS installed the meter backwards, and the box that was installed nearby on the wall failed shortly after installation. A city customer service person told me the city had asked UMS to come back to fix the problem shortly after the city detected it, but UMS never did. Do you really want to give this company more money for such shoddy workmanship? I sure wouldn't.

It does not seem that ICPOC has had an opportunity to review and have input on these revisions. Perhaps they have, but there does not seem to be a record of that input here, nor do I remember any public discussion of this item

Regarding the ordinance to repeal and replace Chapter 113 being approved for second reads in the last Council meeting, I'm encouraging Council to reject the proposed ordinance to repeal and replace Chapter 113 as it is currently written. Research shows that most people using model glue are adolescents struggling with mental health issues. Jailing a 19-year-old for up to 90 days, as the proposed ordinance would allow, will not address why they are using glue in the first place. I appreciate that Council is seeking clarity over the city's police regulations as drugs are concerned. The Council has an opportunity here to clarify that Ann Arbor believes in treating drug use as a matter of public health. Giving the lowest law enforcement priority to the revised chapter 113, and publicizing this decision, will encourage those addicted to model glue to seek help. Doing so would further cement Ann Arbor's status as a leader moving towards drug policies that are rooted in public health.
