

MEMORANDUM OF UNDERSTANDING
COORDINATED HUMAN SERVICES FUNDING IN WASHTENAW COUNTY
COORDINATED FUNDING FOR 2016-2018

PURPOSE

This Memorandum of Understanding outlines the expectations of seven partners—the Ann Arbor Area Community Foundation, the Office of Community and Economic Development (representing Washtenaw County, City of Ann Arbor and the Washtenaw Urban County Executive Committee), United Way of Washtenaw County, St. Joseph Mercy Ann Arbor (SJMAA) and the RNR Foundation (collectively and individually as "Funders" or "Funder")--to coordinate their funding of Washtenaw County human service programs, in order to maximize the community impact of that funding.

RATIONALE

Among the various components of each of the seven partners' work, one task is shared among all seven: funding human services in the community. The Ann Arbor Area Community Foundation, the Office of Community and Economic Development (representing Washtenaw County, City of Ann Arbor, the Washtenaw Urban County Executive Committee), United Way of Washtenaw County, and St. Joseph Mercy Ann Arbor are working together to streamline parallel human services funding distribution processes with the goal of investing in programs and systems working towards common community-level outcomes. The RNR Foundation supports the process and outcomes evaluation aspects of this partnership.

Donors and tax payers should be reassured that their dollars are being invested to maximum effect because they have been coordinated and leveraged with the other complementary funds. We believe using this coordinated approach will:

- reduce gaps and redundancies
- support shared, community-wide outcomes and strategies
- focus the attention of donors, Funders, and nonprofit service providers on outcomes
- stretch community resources to the greatest extent possible

GUIDING PRINCIPLES

1. No Funder is granting decision-making authority over any of its funds to any other Funder or to any new entity. The boards that currently govern each Funder's decisions will continue to do so. This collaboration is intended to maximize communication, planning and coordination between the Funders.
2. This funding coordination is focused on advancing each individual Funder's mission by improving outcomes in the community. Those outcomes are articulated in community-wide plans for individual human service issues (e.g., early childhood development, or housing).
3. Each Funder may distribute the funding amount of its own choosing through the coordinated process described below. At the same time, the Funders commit to have open, timely communication about any perceived duplicative or parallel funding processes they may be exploring in the same issue area.
4. Transparency and accountability—to the public, to nonprofit applicants for funding, and to donors—are essential to a fair and successful funding system.

5. Evaluation is critical to success. During this two-year period, the current coordinated funding leadership team (representing each Funder) will oversee implementation. The group is responsible to plan a process that engages the wider community in periodic feedback and opportunities to evaluate, learn from, and report out successes, unintended consequences and process-related challenges of formalized 'funding coordination' over the course of the agreement.

COLLABORATION DEFINITIONS

This MOU covers responsibilities and expectations surrounding three components of the Coordinated Funding partnership. All Funders work in collaboration to provide input, discuss strategic solutions and prepare shared community responses for all three.

1. PLANNING and COORDINATION

United Way of Washtenaw County and the Ann Arbor Area Community Foundation will work together to provide coordinated funding and leadership in this area. OCED & SJMAA will provide support to this process as well.

Planning and Coordination is the leadership, infrastructure and support to steer issue-specific collaborative efforts embodied in community plans/blueprints. The two parties agree to contribute resources to insure that this coordination is supported. A committee of AAACF and UWWC staff and will, based on input from the collaboratives, jointly develop a recommendation for funding from both of the Funders to the collaborative entities. This annual funding will pay for specific work products and deliverables from the collaboratives. The AAACF and UWWC Boards will separately approve or deny their portion of the joint recommendation but are not considered funding participants unless such is approved.

2. PROGRAM OPERATIONS

The Office of Community and Economic Development and United Way of Washtenaw County will work together to provide coordinated funding and community leadership in this area. The AAACF and St. Joseph Mercy Ann Arbor are also funding participants in this component. UWWC, OCED, AAACF and SJMAA are committed to fund this component for a 24 month period, subject to the availability of funds from each of the Funders.

Program operations is bi-annual, performance-based funding support for the day-to-day expenses of delivering essential services in one or more of the agreed-upon focus areas. Funding is awarded through competitive and directed investment processes. Outcomes must align with the overarching community plan which is developed or agreed to by the Funders. One online application and one reporting process will replace the myriad of past reporting and application requirements. A standardized evaluation tool will be used to review requests. A joint committee with representatives of all Funder organizations will review and recommend funding decisions. The respective boards have the final approval authority for any commitment of funds.

3. CAPACITY BUILDING

The Ann Arbor Area Community Foundation, the United Way of Washtenaw County, and SJMAA will work together to provide coordinated funding and leadership in this area. OCED will provide input and support to the process as well. The Funders will develop a single set of funding guidelines that describes the funds available for capacity building from each Funder. A joint committee of AAACF, UWWC, OCED and SJMAA staff and volunteers will review all applications together, and develop a single slate of funding recommendations, recommending assignment of funds from AAACF, UWWC, or SJMAA. (Some applications could be funded by only one of the Funders, some by multiple at once.) The AAACF, UWWC, and SJMAA Boards will separately approve or deny their portion of the joint recommendation.

Capacity Building consists of discrete, one-time initiatives that strengthen a nonprofit organization and/or the sector as a whole. These activities may include but are not limited to strategic planning, board and leadership development, program design and evaluation, collaboration and merger, and seed funding for new and innovative approaches.

All Funders agree that Capacity Building applications from agencies need to show the agency's clear mission alignment with the overarching work plan and community outcomes for the issue area. AAACF, United Way and SJMAA may proactively encourage and invite nonprofits to seek capacity building support, either as an independent agency or as part of a larger consortium of agencies where broader cross-agency capacity building promises a stronger outcome. A core component of this funding process, which emerged in 2014, is a Comprehensive Capacity Building program that seeks to build capacity in primarily minority-led, minority serving, and grassroots organizations.
