Subject: Seriously~

This so-called Planning Commission is obviously not interested in what Ann Arbor citizens and taxpayers might prefer. Let's actually slow this down and attempt to implement what is best for the majority and those that actually live here.

"This Tuesday, April 14 at 7:00 PM, the Planning Commission will hold an online-only working session on implementing the Comprehensive Land Use Plan. Watch and speak during public comment on Zoom:

City officials repeatedly promised zoning changes would be gradual, transparent, and include robust public input over a 1–4 year timeline. Yet even before the Plan's adoption, insiders have pushed to fast-track rezoning and alter the process behind closed doors." This isn't what I'd expect of any public officials actually interested in its voters opinions and interests.
