Dear Mr. Hess,

According to Mlive, the DDA's Amber Miller can cite "data showing dozens of crashes at downtown intersections along State Street in recent years [and that] pedestrians and cyclists are injured at higher rates."

Can we see that State Street Area crash data? In fact we'd be interested in seeing any State Street Area crash data going back as far as you have it.

Also, reckon you might have time Monday or Tuesday for a 20 minute interview?

Thanks,

Jim
